Highlights & Facts For The Ideal Experience

Uisge Ban Falls

- Trip Length: Roughly 185 miles, plus side trips
- Best Time To Go: Best in early summer and fall (foliage). Many accommodations are closed mid-October through May.
- What to Watch Out For: The Cabot Trail is the only road at this end of the cape; there is no road that cuts through the National Park.

Traveler's Notes

Pleasant Bay

- The Cabot Trail makes a loop around Cape Breton Island, cutting across the top of the island and closely following the western and eastern coastlines. If you travel in a clockwise direction, you'll be on the "inside" lane as you drive along both coasts.
- The artisans of the Cabot Trail are unique and award-winning. World-renowned crafters at Leather Works and Glass Artisans in St Ann's Bay are just some of the skillful people whose workshops you can visit on the Cabot Trail.
- If you'd rather relax and enjoy the views, visit Cape Breton Highlands National Park for some of the Island's most spectacular scenery. Or if you prefer something a little more lively, tap your toes to some Cape Breton Celtic music, which can be enjoyed at festivals and events around the Cabot Trail.
