

BEST RV ROAD TRIPS IN NORTH AMERICA

INCLUDES DETAILED TRIP PLANS FOR NORTH
AMERICA'S MOST POPULAR RV ROUTES

NATIONAL RV OWNER'S ASSOC.

RV Traveler's

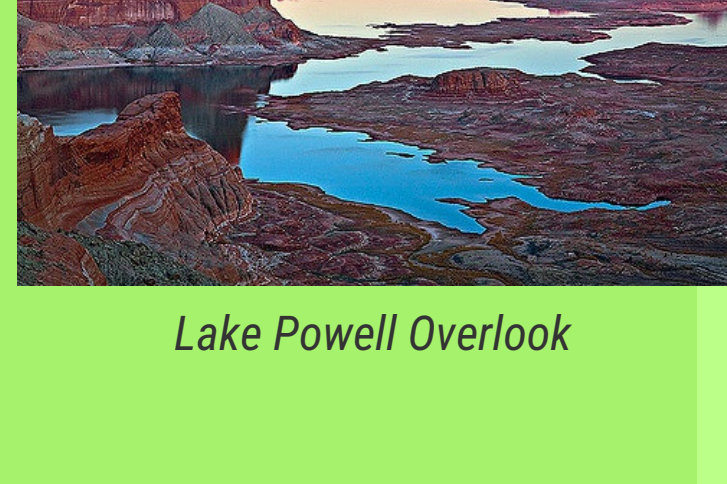

Roadmap to

Utah Byways

Packed with scenic vistas and both archaeological and cultural intrigue, the byway encounters numerous examples of Ancestral Puebloan history in the Four Corners area. A tour of the Utah portion of the Trail of the Ancients includes Four Corners Monument, Edge of the Cedars State Park & Museum, Natural Bridges National Monument, Hovenweep National Monument, Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park, and many other areas of interest.

1

Highlights & Facts For The Ideal Experience

Lake Powell Overlook

Trip Length: Roughly 450 miles, not including side trips

Best Time To Go: Year round

What to Watch Out For: When traveling back roads on this route, be sure to carry ample water, food and fuel.

Must See Nearby Attractions:

- 1 Canyonlands by Night (sound & light show on the Colorado River cruise - May through October, Route 191 Moab

2

Traveler's Notes

Arches National Park

Passing through twisting canyons, red rock towers, pine forests and pioneer towns, you will experience one of this nation's most beautiful drives. Punctuating the drive are breathtaking panoramas, national parks and monuments, recreation areas and state parks.

Between the breathtaking engineering of the ridge-traversing "Hogsback" and some of world's most startling geography, Scenic Byway 12 is simply one of America's most beautiful drives. You'll find it difficult not to stop at multiple points along the way to experience breathtaking panoramas, national parks and monuments, recreation areas and state parks. You'll also see pioneer towns like Henrieville, untouched by time. You can taste Zagat-rated local cuisine in an unexpected place: Boulder, Utah. In winter, make sure to inquire locally for road conditions.

While driving Highway 12, imagine climbing the 124 miles on a bike. Elite cyclists do just that as part of America's Toughest Stage Race, the Tour of Utah.

3

What To See Along the Way

- Fishlake Scenic Byway
- Torrey
- Capitol Reef National Park
- Hickman Bridge
- Lake Powell Overlook
- Hite Crossing
- Natural Bridges National Monument
- Mule Canyon Rest Area
- Comb Ridge
- Edge of the Cedars State Park
- Monticello
- Canyonlands National Park
- Arches National Park

4

Facts & More Information To Plan Your Trip!

Capitol Reef National Park

Fishlake Scenic Byway: Also part of the designated Fishlake Scenic Byway, is a state highway in the south central portion of the U.S. state of Utah. SR-25 runs from the junction of SR-24 near the town of Koosharem northeast to the west shore of Fish Lake.

Torrey: A town located on State Route 24 in Wayne County, Utah, United States, 8 miles from Capitol Reef National Park.

Capitol Reef National Park: Located in Utah's south-central desert. It surrounds a long wrinkle in the earth known as the Waterpocket Fold, with layers of golden sandstone, canyons and striking rock formations.

Hickman Bridge: Just two miles east of the Capitol Reef visitor center, the trailhead to Hickman Bridge offers hikers an easy, spectacularly scenic trek up to a large natural arch.

Natural Bridges National Monument: A U.S. National Monument located about 50 miles northwest of the Four Corners boundary of southeast Utah.

Comb Ridge: A linear north to south-trending monocline nearly 80 miles long in southeast Utah and northeast Arizona.

Edge of the Cedars State Park: An Ancestral Puebloan archaeological site, a museum, and an archaeological repository.

Canyonlands National Park: Known for its dramatic desert landscape carved by the Colorado River.

Arches National Park: Bordered by the Colorado River in the southeast, it's known as the site of more than 2,000 natural sandstone arches.

Ready, set, go!